Grading Mode: Standard Letter

Transfer Credit: CSU.

Reading critically means being able to read effectively for any class that you take and for any job or career that you pursue. In this class, you will learn valuable techniques to increase not only your reading comprehension and reading speed, but also enhance your ability to understand the perspective and limitations of an author's views for anything you read, hear, or see. In this class, we explore academic readings across the curriculum and also pay attention to the way information and arguments are formed in the news media, online, and in print. Letter Grade only.
