Course Description

Read, analyze, and write on important works by women writers. Explore the historical, cultural, philosophical, and aesthetic implications of representative works. Formulate and produce written analyses of assigned works. Enrollment Limitation: ENGL A173H; students who complete ENGL A173 may not enroll in or receive credit for ENGL A173H. ADVISORY: ENGL C1000. Transfer Credit: CSU; UC.

Course Level Student Learning Outcome(s)

1. Explain significant historical, philosophical, cultural and aesthetic influences of literature by women, including defining traits and major themes.

Course Objectives

- 1. Read and demonstrate an understanding of no fewer than four long works (plays, novels, film, collections of short stories or poems) of literature by women writers, supplemented by either more long works or enough shorter works or excerpts of works to constitute an introductory survey course.
- 2. Identify and examine the philosophical, cultural, mythic, religious, and/or historical elements that are represented in literature by women writers or that provide a background context for literature by women writers.
- 3. Learn to read closely in order to recognize and interpret the literary devices and writing styles evident in individual texts of literature by women writers. Appreciate how these elements make each work a representation of an individual authors artistic sensibility, of a particular set of circumstances, and/or of a larger group of literature.

- 4. Examine the influence of different gender, economic, cultural, racial, and/or ethnic groups on literature by women writers.
- 5. Recognize how individual works of literature by women writers reflect and comment on moral, social, and aesthetic issues.
- 6. Write about literature by women writers.
- 7. Compare and categorize works written by women based on major themes, specific literary movements, various genres, and cultural and historical trends.
- 8. Evaluate and appreciate womens writing and filmmaking and recognize women writers contributions to literature.
