Course Description

Students will write essays in different rhetorical modes. The basic principles of written composition will be applied through writing assignments and assigned essays. The process of choosing and shaping a thesis and writing an extended, well developed essay will be stressed. English C109 fulfills the Option 1 AA or AS degree's A2 requirement. It transfers to private and out-of-state colleges and universities as the first semester of a two-semester Freshman Composition requirement. It transfers to CSU only as an elective. PREREQUISITE: A course taught at the level of Preparation for College Composition or appropriate English placement. Transfer Credit: CSU.

Course Level Student Learning Outcome(s)

1. Using Standard English, students will write organized, developed, mechanically correct essays in a variety of rhetorical modes that include a thesis statement, supporting topic sentences, and supporting details.
2. Using critical reading and analytical thinking, students will locate reliable sources to be integrated into research papers with MLA and/or APA documentation.

Course Objectives

- 1. Use the writing process (prewriting, drafting, revising, and editing).
- 2. Recognize the purpose and audience for a piece of expository writing.
- 3. Choose and narrow a topic.
- 4. Write an effective thesis statement with supporting topic sentences.
- 5. Compose expository essays that have organization, order, unity, coherence, and support.
- 6. Use conventional grammar, punctuation, capitalization, spelling, and syntax.

Method(s) of Instruction

- Lecture (02)
- DE Online Lecture (02X)

Instructional Techniques

Instructor utilizes lectures, small groups, discussions, or one-on-one tutoring. To test for originality and allow for direct instructor feedback, students may be required to submit compositions to external sites such as Turnitin or Vericite. Instructor employs audio and video technology to appeal to different learning types. Instructor assigns homework.

Reading Assignments

Students read a variety of genres and modes; examples include historical documents, renowned essays, sample student essays, selections from a course reader, and other texts of merit.

Writing Assignments

English C109 requires a minimum of 4,000 words of corrected expository essay writing. Students write multiple drafts of essays in modes such as descriptive, argumentative, comparison, definition, analysis, and research. The substantial research essays require MLA and/or APA documentation and format. Students brainstorm, map, and freewrite prior to outlining. Students use conventional English grammar, punctuation, capitalization, spelling, and syntax.

Out-of-class Assignments

Students are regularly assigned reading and writing homework. Instructors may also require attending a performance, watching a film, visiting a library, or other out-of-class enrichment activities.

Demonstration of Critical Thinking

Students demonstrate critical thinking by closely reading and analyzing texts. Students also exhibit critical thinking during class discussions about audience, stance, purpose, persuasive techniques, and English conventions. In addition to or in place of midterm and final examinations, students may take essay examinations.

Required Writing, Problem Solving, Skills Demonstration

Students write essays and take essay exams. Students research and cite findings using MLA and/or APA styles. Students participate in discussions. Students may debate, present, or participate in other projects, individual or group.

Eligible Disciplines

English: Masters degree in English, literature, comparative literature, or composition OR bachelors degree in any of the above AND masters degree in linguistics, TESL, speech, education with a specialization in reading, creative writing, or journalism OR the equivalent. Masters degree required.
