

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

The training provided in these certificate programs equips students with the skills needed by professionals in information and communication technologies to support and/or manage the converged network that carries voice, data, image, and video traffic. Information technology is a high-wage, high-demand career field, and the fundamental program can be completed in as little as one semester.

Students must complete all courses at Orange Coast College in order to earn the Network Technician - Certificate of Specialization.

Information Technology Department (<https://orangecoastcollege.edu/academics/career-advantage/program-areas/information-technology.html>)

- Information Technology Security, Certificate of Specialization (<https://catalog.cccd.edu/orange-coast/pathways/business-management-entrepreneurship/information-technology/information-technology-security-certificate-specialization/>)
- Network Professional, Certificate of Achievement (<https://catalog.cccd.edu/orange-coast/pathways/business-management-entrepreneurship/information-technology/network-professional-certificate-achievement/>)
- Network Technician, Certificate of Achievement (<https://catalog.cccd.edu/orange-coast/pathways/business-management-entrepreneurship/information-technology/network-technician-coa/>)
- Virtualization and Cloud Computing, Certificate of Achievement (<https://catalog.cccd.edu/orange-coast/pathways/business-management-entrepreneurship/information-technology/virtualization-cloud-computing-certificate-achievement/>)